

MAKES HIS BIDS FOR PRESIDENCY

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE SAYS
WALL STREET HAS PICKED
OUT ITS CANDIDATE
FOR 1912.

WANTS UNIVERSAL PRIMARY

Practically Offers Himself As a Candidate Before the People for the Nomination for Highest Office in Nation.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 6.—Today Senator La Follette at the opening of the new year fires the first gun in the contest to give the people the right to elect delegates to the national convention of 1912 by direct vote. In this week's issue of the La Follette Weekly Magazine, Senator La Follette declares that "Wall Street has already selected the presidential candidates of both parties. There is just time to defeat the Wall Street plan. Let the people organize and demand of every legislature the enactment of a primary law for the election of delegates to the national conventions by direct vote."

"The Wisconsin belongs the honor of electing the first primary law for the national convention by the direct vote of the people," says Senator La Follette. "The Wisconsin delegates to the republican national convention of 1908 were elected under that law. They stood in that convention, a little band of fearless men fighting to the last ditch for platform pledges vital to the public interest. Their contest in the Chicago convention fixed the attention of the country and forced the candidate nominated for President to broaden the platform by declarations in his speech of acceptance in favor of several of the important Wisconsin propositions which the convention had impatiently rejected."

"The lesson is obvious. Every state in the Union should adopt a primary law providing for the election of delegates to the national convention of 1912 by direct vote of the people. With such a law in each state, the delegates will be chosen by the voters instead of by machine managers and the national platform of both political parties will represent the interests of the people rather than the interests of the system."

"And every state should take another advance step. Oregon has just pointed the way. Under the initiative, the people of that state voted for and adopted a law at the late election in November, providing not only for the election of delegates to national conventions, but also providing that each voter shall at the April primary in 1912 have the opportunity of expressing his choice for president and vice president."

"Wall Street has already selected the presidential candidates of both political parties. There is just time to defeat the Wall Street plan. Let the people organize and demand of every legislature the enactment of a primary law for the election of delegates to national conventions by direct vote, embracing a provision that shall give to each voter the right to express upon his primary ballot his preference for president and vice president."

"Such a primary law will beat the Wall Street game and nominate and elect a president for all the people of these United States."

GIVES HIS REASON FOR HIS CLEMENCY

Former Governor Warner Explains
Why He Pardoned Life
Convict Ascher.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 6.—Former Governor Warner today issued a statement concerning the pardon of Edward Ascher, the life convict. Because of this pardon Gov. Osborn demanded and received the resignation of two of the three members of the state pardon board.

"No promise or intimation was made by me to any one of any favorable action," says Warner, "unless the facts presented justified clemency." The statement says that five or six jurors pleaded for the pardon in tears, declaring the air in the jury room was unbearably foul when Ascher was convicted.

"I was convinced," says Warner, "that Ascher was not convicted by a voluntary verdict of twelve men, and that at least five or six consented to a wrong conviction only after thirty-four hours of struggle under circumstances where the will-power was lost in physical weakness."

Ascher was convicted for murder.

of That City.

McGilla of that city. The two, it seems, "mixed" when Doyle refused to leave the court-room when so ordered by the justice of the peace, whereupon a hammer figured largely in his going.

The complaint has not yet been gone over by the governor, owing to press of other official business, so its contents have not been made public, but it is believed to call for the removal of the justice by the governor.

PEARY'S MARCHES NOT IMPOSSIBLE

The Service Proved Truth Of Statements.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Peary's recent walking test as prescribed by the navy, was just made public, and shows Peary in the first day walked 25 miles in six hours and 45 minutes, the second day 35 miles in seven hours and 25 minutes, the third day 45 miles in an hour and twenty-eight minutes in other words he walked 55 miles in 15 hours and 25 minutes.

The friends of Peary say the tests prove conclusively that the fifty miles a day over ice on the memorable return trip from the pole was not an unreasonable distance for him to have covered.

VERITABLE CYCLONE HITS THE CAPITOL

New Superintendent of Public Property Is Reforming the Labor Force of the State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 6.—A veritable cyclone struck the state capitol building when William L. Essman, the new superintendent of public property, began his duties in real earnest yesterday. Ever since the fur has been flying and the end is not yet.

In the first place, he has found that the capitol is extremely dirty and that few of the janitors, laborers and scrub-women have any clear ideas as to the extent of their duties. There are about 125 men on the payroll of the office, and a large number of these have not had enough to keep them busy—yet Supt. Essman finds that the present force is really inefficient in keeping the capitol clean and to do all the other things required of the force and do them right.

Man after man was "called out the carpet" yesterday and today and interviewed by the new superintendent as to his duties. One janitor had confined himself to a "single" lavatory, while the one next door received no attention, when the cleaning of both would hardly occupy half his time. Another swept a certain section of the floor where someone else was supposed to begin. One laborer is on the payroll who has not been inside of the building for two years. The only labor he performs is that of drawing his pay.

"I find an entire lack of system," said Mr. Essman today. "Hardly any body knows what his duties are and it seems impossible for anybody to keep busy. And still there is more work here that ought to be done than the present force can handle."

As a result of Mr. Essman's activities more brooms have been seen in operation, more dusting out of obscure corners, more men have been actually working than ever before in years. The place has become a beehive.

Supt. Essman could not understand why the scrub-women should do their cleaning mornings, just at the time the officials and employees are arriving. He couldn't find any satisfactory reason, so he ordered that henceforth all such cleaning shall be done at night.

As for the new superintendent himself, he is a regular dynamo. Tireless, knowing no working hour regulations as applied to himself, he sets a pace that is the fastest in the history of the office. He also is strict disciplinarian. "Orders were made to be obeyed," he said, grimly. "I am awfully hard to get along with—for some people."

ment Army Inspectors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Naming the Baby in Japan.

Such lovers of picturesque ceremonies as the Japanese do not let an important event like the naming of the baby pass without proper observance. The infant's birth is immediately announced to the relatives and friends, who hasten to send congratulations and presents. Visitors used to insist upon seeing the mother and child, but the spread of medical knowledge is gradually changing this. On the seventh day after birth the child is named. The first born son is frequently called "Ichiro," which means "First." Others, as in Latin, are named "Second," "Third," and so on. Girls are more lucky, receiving picturesque names like "Snow," "Chrysanthemum," "Glory" and the like.—Wide World Magazine.

He was a man of strong, robust constitution and attained the ripe old age of 81 years. Some four years ago he lost his life companion and on the day of the funeral when the casket was lowered in the grave Mr. Schaeferberg fell to his knees and offered a most fervent prayer. DROUGHT IS BROKEN; MANY ARE IN COURT

Journey On the Water Wagon Was Short In Cases of Several Habituals.

The drought, following upon the starting out of the water wagon on its annual journey, was broken yesterday and last night and five drunks were brought before Judge Elford in municipal court this morning. John (Haldy) Jackson, whose great fault is that he cannot look at a liquor sign twice without yielding to temptation, appeared in court somewhat disfigured, with one side of his face swollen, lips cut, and his shirt and trousers spattered with the blood which had fallen from his bruises. He begged the judge to allow him to go free to return to his work in the country and promised finally to go to Dakota, but Jackson had broken his trust previously and the judge sent him to jail for fifteen days. William Matchison of Madison, on the same charge, asked for a chance to get out of town and commitment was held upon recommendation of Chief Deputy on Matchison's promise to go to Idaho to seek work. Harry Rice of New York, erstwhile laborer at the best sugar factory, was given the same privilege and struck out for the Line City on foot. William Lennon and Hart Cayce went to jail for ten and eight days sentences respectively.

"Frank Wininger," as Gus Schultus, a "Dutch Blockhead," proved to be one of the most acceptable offerings presented by the Wininger Brothers this past week. The Myers theatre has been filled to the doors every night that this company of players have been here, showing their appreciation of the clever acting and capable company that the Five Winingers have allied with themselves. Frank Wininger is one of the few natural German comedians on the stage who do not over do their part and his rendering of the lines last evening was most excellent. Tonight the company presents "Men of the World."

Absence of Mind.

Many amusing anecdotes are told of Bishop Burnett's absence of mind, but few perhaps are more striking and have been less repeated than the following, which Lord Oxford used to relate:

Burnet was once dining with the Duchess of Marlborough after the great duke's disgrace, in the course of conversation, speaking of Marlborough's great qualities, great services and great fall, Burnet compared the duke with Deliaclaus, the great Roman.

"But how in roman," exclaimed the duchess, "could so great a general be abandoned?"

"Ah, my lady, do you know what a cursed brimstone of a wife he had?" The hearers, to the good Burnet's surprise, were confused and dumb struck with the force of the parallel he discovered in the cases of the Roman and the Englishman.—St. James' Gazette.

The Count Too Touching.

In the long corridor of an up-town hotel they tell of a certain foreigner who until recently held court there of evenings. At last he disappeared, and then each of the men who had nightly been entertained by his flow of anecdote and his abundance of witty stories confessed that he had lent the count various sums, ranging from $100 up. The total seemed so formidable that a movement was set on foot to bring the defaulter back, his whereabouts having been ascertained. But funds were needed for the purpose. One of the big men of Wall street who was a creditor on the count's books to the extent of $500 was approached for a subscription.

"Not on your life!" said he. "I don't want him back. He'll borrow more money from me if he gets in town. But I'll subscribe $25 toward a fund to send him back to France if he'll agree to sail from Boston."—New York Globe.

Recipe For Making Money.

First catch your capital, however small, or if homestead, such as from savings, so much the better. Place in a steady, secure position, where it will not be disturbed, and allow to stand. Skim off all that accrues without waste and with that at the proper season make a stiff paste of business, in which place your capital or as much of it as you can use with advantage. A little ripe judgment should be added. Season with hope and enterprise and stir briskly with a bunch of fresh energy. While your pie is cooking watch it carefully yourself and see that nothing goes wrong. Keep up a good fire until it begins to brown and don't take too much off the top for tasting until the whole is well cooked; then enjoy the result.—London Graphic.

LAW TO SAVE BIRDS

Audubon Society Enlisting Many for Federal Legislation.

Prediction by Ornithologists and Conservation Congress Action Steps Efforts to Save Feathered Tribes.

New York.—Following the recent recommendation for federal protection of migratory birds by the National Conservation congress at St. Paul, farmers, sportsmen and land owners throughout the country are today joining in a general movement to urge Uncle Sam to conserve his valuable feathered resources. Under the leadership of the National Association of Audubon Societies it is planned to enlist every man who fills an acre or carries a gun, as well as every bird lover, in this campaign for the preservation of the insect and rodent eating and game birds of the nation. Unless migratory bird life is soon made safe from one end of the country to the other by a uniform protective statute leading ornithologists predict the speedy extermination of many species. From delegates in every section of the continent reports are being received at headquarters of the Audubon organization here which show strong sentiment for the federal bird guardianship that was unanimously made a plank in the platform of the St. Paul congress. Irrespective of party politics, it is declared that the people of every locality now stand ready to urge Congress for legislation to protect the birds now being destroyed through lack of uniformity in state laws.

The recent action of the National Conservation congress is a practical endorsement of the principles contained in the Weeks bill, now pending at Washington, which gives the federal government authority to regulate the killing of migratory game and non-game birds.

No interference with state laws for strictly resident birds would be involved in federal protection, according to authorities consulted by leaders of the movement, when the interests of the people of every section of the country would be served by proper protection of the migratory flocks upon which depend the nation's agricultural prosperity.

The National Association of Audubon Societies has succeeded in urging 37 states to protect their insect-eating birds by fairly adequate laws, but these may be changed on the impulse of any succeeding legislature. William Dutcher, president of the organization, declared that in federal protection alone lay the hope for America in preserving her commercially valuable bird species.

DOZEN EGGS IN STOCKINGS

Two Slight Steaks Were Also Concealed in Restaurant Worker's Hoos—Is Liberated.

Newark, N. J.—Two slight steaks and a dozen hard-boiled eggs were taken from the stockings of Mrs. Sophia Skolza, thirty-two years old, of 67 Dawson street. The woman is a dishwasher in a restaurant in Academy street. For several weeks victims had been vanishing mysteriously from the larder of the place. Detective Horter was put on the case. The other morning an inventory of all the food on hand was taken. At closing time there was another inventory. Two steaks and a dozen cooked eggs were missing. The cashier's checks showed nobody had eaten the two steaks or the eggs. Horter took Mrs. Skolza to police headquarters. She denied she had taken anything. "Well, then," said Horter, "we'll have to search you."

"That's all I have," she asserted. She backed away and took a boiled egg from a pocket of her dress. The woman screamed when Mrs. McDermitt, the police matron, touched a lump on the prisoner's leg. "Ouch! That's a bruise. Take your hands off! It hurts," she said. She faintly when the matron pulled forth the steaks and eggs. After the bloodless operation Mrs. Skolza was let go.

What Her Family Knew. "What made her family think she'd succeed in hospital work?" "She was always the kind of a girl who rubs things in and nurses an injury."—Lippincott's.

The Story of a Cabinet. The Swedish consul at Marseilles has received a modest but interesting memento in the form of a cabinet for papers for transmission to King Gustav V. The history of the cabinet is interesting. It is made of Juniper wood, and the tree was supposed to be a thousand years old when it was felled. It had grown on an estate near Marseilles which had belonged to the Carre family. One of the daughters married Bernadotte, the founder of the royal house of Sweden. Bernadotte, it is said, used to sit under this tree. Some time before the death of Oscar II. the present king visited the home of his ancestors and expressed a desire to possess some souvenir of the place, and the cabinet is the outcome of that wish.

Food for Our Soldiers.

Mr. Squilla (reading the morning paper)—"Our soldiers in the Philippines are almost in a state of mutiny because they have to eat wheat bread." Mrs. Squilla (a famous housekeeper)—"That's too bad. I suppose it's because they don't know how to fix the bread. You must write to General Wood this very day and tell him." Mr. Squilla (starting)—"That?" Mrs. Squilla—"Yes; tell him that he must be sure to furnish the army with good butter; get print butter, if possible; it's often as low as fifty cents, and never over a dollar a pound. Then, on baking days, when the bread is fresh, tell the soldiers to spread the butter on thick, and it will be delicious. The following days, when it is a little dry, give each soldier a bowl of rich cream, and tell him to crumb it in. I'm sure they'll like it."

Horse Defends Master.

Lieut. Robinson, an English officer in the Royal engineers, has a horse which he thinks ought to receive the Victorian cross for gallantry in action. Lieut. Robinson was leading a party in Afghanistan, when they were suddenly attacked by a band of Ghazis. The fighting was furious for a few minutes, and during the height of the battle the lieutenant was speared by a young Ghazi and brought to the ground. The faithful horse rushed to his heels and lashed out at the Ghazi every time he approached the wounded man. This defense he maintained until help arrived and the assailant fled. As the horse is not vicious, the lieutenant is firm in his belief that the horse knew his master was in danger and defended him.

Value in Petroleum.

In the earlier days of refining petroleum the residuum left in the retorts after the refining process had been completed was thrown away as worthless. In 1875, while a chemist was experimenting in his laboratory with some of this stuff, he discovered that it contained many valuable commercial substances, processes for the separation and recovery of which were afterward invented. At present, over 200 different chemicals and preparations are made from it. Probably in the development of no industry has the service rendered by science been more important, for, by unlocking the treasures hidden in this one substance, not only have thousands of people been made rich, but many lives have been saved.—Columbian.

The Child and the Light.

If a child for a time dislikes going to sleep in the dark, or wishes its door ajar—yield to it. The dread will soon pass, if not artificially fostered or made much of. A child ought not to have to confess in words to his fear—that only tends to make it more real and lasting. He will grow out of it. And, after all, this feeling of helplessness in an unknown and mysterious universe is very natural. The universe is big and mysterious and most alarming. Custom gradually makes its ordinarily friendly aspects familiar, while its more portentous manifestations are found to be exceptional; but they are there, behind the scenes, and it is just the exceptional and portentous of which we are in instinctively afraid.—Sir Oliver Lodge.

Many Things Wonderful.

In anything more wonderful than another, if you consider it naturally? I have seen no man rise from the dead; I have seen some thousands rise from nothing; I have not force to fly into the sun, but I have force to lift my hand, which is equally strange.—Curly.

HIGHWAY REPORT MADE TO BOARD

CAUSES MUCH DISCUSSION AS TO WHAT ACTION WILL BE TAKEN.

ROUTINE WORK FINISHED

County Board Session Attracts Considerable Attention—Much Discussion Over Many Matters.

Highway matters occupied most of the time at the morning meeting of the county board today. ex-County Commissioner H. L. Skavlen read his report for the work of the past year and for the three years that he has held the office. County aid given in the building of roads during the past year, according to the report for the various towns, was as follows: Avon, $600; Bradford, $1,000; Beloit, $1,000; Canton, $700; Clinton, $1,000; Fulton, $800; Harmony, Janesville, $625; Johnston, $1,000; Magnolia, $1,000; Milton, $825; Newark, $800; Plymouth, $1,000; Porter, $625; Rock, $600; Turtle, $1,000; Union, $750. The total amount of county aid was $14,100.00. The town receiving aid from the county contributes a like sum, so that the total amount raised for road improvement in Rock county during 1910 was $28,200.00. With the balance from previous years, the total available fund was $31,437.07. For repairs on county roads $152.57 was spent during the last year and the total for three years is $505.72.

In reply to a question from W. T. Sherman, Mr. Skavlen stated that in his belief a large traction engine was much more practical for road work than a steam roller, especially where a layer of material eight inches deep was to be rolled.

J. L. Hour's motion that the report be received and placed on file was passed.

C. E. Moore, reporting for Committee No. 4, told of the work of the committee in inspecting the reports of the highway commissioner and the commissioner and town chairman as to the sums laid out in road work and the amount each town had repaid after all work done during the year had been paid for. The committee recommended that all roads included in the report of the highway commissioner at the November meeting with the exception of certain roads where culverts and bridges had not been built, be included in the county system of highways. It was moved that this report be received and placed on file and the county clerk instructed to have it printed in the report of the board's meeting.

With regard to the report of Committee No. 4, yesterday afternoon, Chairman J. A. Paul announced that it carried with it an appropriation for salaries for county officers and called for a vote on the appropriation, which went through successfully.

The sessions of the board will not be completed probably before tomorrow evening. There was no possibility of all the business being handled today, and while they may adjourn sometime during the day Saturday, it is likely the meeting will last until late in the afternoon. While much has been accomplished thus far, a considerable amount of work remains to be done.

Further discussion of matters pertaining to county highways was continued this afternoon from the morning's meeting. Among other things was the passage of a resolution favored by C. E. Moore, to appoint a committee of three to purchase a road roller for improvement of highways, the committee to have full power in the selection of the machine, and the appropriation of $2,500 to pay for it.

In the report of Committee No. 6, read by Mr. Moore after the board had assembled this afternoon, the purchase of a road roller was recommended by the committee as a necessity for the proper making of roads. The report also included a statement of the committee's opinion of the work already done, in general commending it, but pointing out what were considered certain defects. The board adopted the report.

An explanation of the manner of procedure in the construction of county highways was given by Mr. Moore, M. P. Richardson, taking the principal part in quizzing him.

All roads mentioned in the November report of H. L. Skavlen, with the exception of certain roads which were barred out on account of having been built this year or because of bridges or culverts that were not made of permanent materials, are now included in the county system of highways, C. E. Moore's resolution to this effect being adopted.

A resolution of which Mr. Moore was the author, directing the County Commissioner of highways to build no roads where grades had not been suitably prepared or where all bridges and culverts were made of permanent materials or promise given that they would be, was also adopted.

A DECISIVE SAVING CAN BE EFFECTED ON LADIES' SHOES.

Local Store Makes an Unusual Price Concession.

When the Marzluft factory closed down there was a large surplus stock to be disposed of and it was necessary to quote unusually low prices to the retail dealers in order to sell all of the stock.

This store bought a large number of these high grade ladies shoes at the low prices and now wishes to close them out in order to clear up the stocks. The shoes are all hand turned and the latest models, some cloth tops and some button tops, choice of button or blucher. To close them out we make the extraordinary low price of $2.45 per pair. Regularly they retail for $3.50 and $4.00, so it is really seen what splendid bargains they are. Anon Reiberg & Co.

The Surprise of the Spiritual

By REV. HUGH T. KERR
Pastor Fullerton Avenue Presbyterian Church, Chicago

TEXT—The kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field, the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and selleth all that he hath and knoweth that field.—Matthew XIII, 44.

The discovery of hidden treasures was one of the expectant surprises of the past, said the Rev. Mr. Kerr. The secrecy of the soil was once the safest security. Nero became the laughing stock of his people because he was induced to investigate a marvelous treasure-trove in a distant part of his dominions said to be waiting for a finder. Men of our day, too, have become the laughing stock of their fellows by selling their all to invest in mountains of rock said to contain acres of gold and strata of shale and to secrete rivers of oil. But this man of the parable was no laughing stock, but the wonder of his age and the envy of many men.

Without searching for it, he discovered a treasure. The glittering gold shone before his very eyes. According to the law of the land it was his. His heart danced for very joy and in his joy he parted with everything he had and possessed himself of that miracle-working field.

God is better far than mountains of gold, said Jesus. To find God, to possess him, is worth the sacrifice of every other thing. God is the greatest discovery a man can make. Job cried out for God. Philip asked after the father. Tennyson said the greatest desire of his life was to have a new vision of God. Let us follow the path of this unnamed discoverer, and, if we can, learn his secret.

He was surprised into his discovery. It was all so unexpected and so amazing and so wonderful that he could not believe his eyes when the glittering gold and the shining silver lay spread out in a heap at his feet.

So does God sometimes surprise the souls of men. We would not be seeking him had we not already been found of him. Our search for God has been so long and so patient as has his search for us. Sometimes he discovers himself to us, and, ere we know it, we are in his presence. Like Livingstone in the African wilderness suddenly facing his discoverer, so does God discover us. Nicodemus may search for God in the secrecy of the night, but in the broad daylight Jesus reveals himself to the surprised Samaritan woman. Zacchaeus may climb the tree to see the Christ, but Jesus unexpectedly calls Matthew from his customary place.

So do men stumble upon God in life. Men are surprised into the spiritual by the very act of the eternal spirit they are not looking for God, they are found of him. Paul went with slaughter in his heart to Damascus and lo! he found not the Christians but the Christians' God. Verily, said the prophet, thou art a God that hidest thyself. The spiritual life from beginning to end is one long series of discovery. The hidden treasure of God's all-pervasive presence is ever revealing new wonders to our souls.

He was surprised into a new mental temperament. The very grammar dances with joy. The words as they fell from the lips of Jesus are bubbling over with a new found delight. The man walks as it were on air and lives his life in gladness of a present possession. So rejoiced is he in his new found treasure that he again hides it away as something too precious to exploit, and holds his secret for a little while at least, in selfish monopoly.

The spiritual life must ever surprise men into a very intoxication of delight. The early church was one great merry-making community. The people of that age did not understand the abounding joy and the overwhelming gladness that possessed the Christians who sang in the midst of defeat and who rejoiced in tribulation. When God surprises the soul there is abounding light-heartedness and a burst of melody. Every revival of true religion has been accompanied with a burst of song.

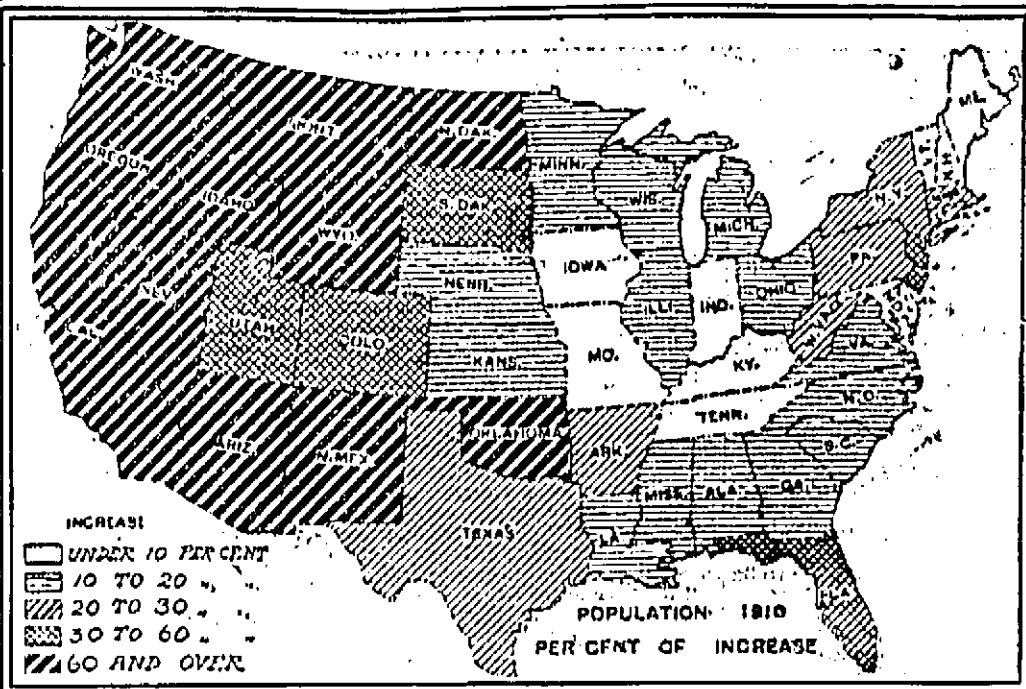

The miners of Wales went down into the darkness with gospel songs upon their lips. In the prison-house of Philippi Paul and Silas sang songs of joy until the very prison was smitten as with an earthquake. God, pity us for our dry-as-dust religion! There is no gospel in the religion of many of our people, and the missing note in our modern Christianity is the note of abounding joy and spiritual cheerfulness. Our missionary meetings are too often places of tears and tragedies. Our prayer services are too often a rendezvous for dispirited followers. Awake, awake, put on thy beautiful garments. Our Christ is a conqueror and our treasure is pure gold.

He was surprised into a new interpretation of sacrifice. In his joy he goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field. There is nothing to weep over in that transaction. There is no use to shed tears over that sacrifice. Indeed, there is no sacrifice. Men talk about sacrifices, said the immortal Livingstone; God knows I never made a sacrifice. This from the man who wore his life out to heal the open sore of the world; and we, with our petty self-denials talk about sacrifice!

If we wish the priceless treasure we must pay the price.

Strange Phenomenon.

It is no isolated phenomenon to find together the highest ideals and the most contemptible meanness.

INTERESTING FACTS BROUGHT OUT IN NEW CENSUS—MAP SHOWING INCREASE IN POPULATION IN VARIOUS STATES.

Washington, D. C.—Further statistics of the census, made public by Director Durand, show the growth of the different states during the past decade. The range is from a decrease of three-tenths of one per cent in Iowa to an increase of 120 per cent in Washington. The trend of population, also very plainly divides the country into broad groups.

The states showing the lowest rate of increase are in the central section, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky, and Tennessee; the three northern New England states, and Maryland and Delaware. Next to the scale, or between 10 and 20 per cent, are Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, and Kansas in the middle west. With them are Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the great manufacturing states, show an increase of from 20 to 30 per cent. With them are Arkansas and Texas.

With the exception of New Jersey and Florida, the states which show an increase exceeding 30 per cent are located in the west and make up a solid belt comprising fully one-third of the area of the United States. South Dakota, Colorado and Utah have rates of increase between 30 and 50 per cent, while North Dakota, Wyoming, Oregon, Nevada, California, New Mexico and Arizona increased between 50 and 100 per cent. Oklahoma, Idaho and Washington increased more than 100 per cent.

SHANAHAN HEADS APPROPRIATIONS

Chicago Man Remains as Guardian of Illinois' Purse Strings.

ADJOURN WORK UNTIL TUESDAY

Speaker Adkins Given Power to Provide Usual Employment for Work in House—Holstlaw's Seat to Be Declared Vacant.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 6.—David E. Shanahan of Chicago will continue as chairman of the house committee on appropriations, a place he has held during the last three sessions. This announcement was made by speaker Adkins.

"I am revealing no secret," said the speaker, "when I say Mr. Shanahan will remain at the head of this important committee. What is the use of making a change? He understands the work as does no other man in the house. A new man would only complicate the work of the committee."

Because Lieut. Gov. Oglesby, in the senate, ruled that he could not entertain a motion to adjourn to a fixed date in the absence of a quorum, the house was unable to adjourn formally, so the speaker said there would be no further attempts to transact business until next Tuesday morning.

During its short session the house did some rapid-fire work in appointing resolutions providing for the appointment of employees. The customary number of policemen, janitors, custodians, clerks and stenographers was provided for, all to be appointed by the speaker.

There were rumors before the session opened that a resolution would be introduced, along the lines of the one adopted by the senate, attacking the right of Leo O'Neil Brown and Robert E. Wilson to hold seats in the house, but it did not appear.

From a statement made by Speaker Adkins it is believed he will try to block any such step if one is taken. He said emphatically he considered that the vote of the people at the November election closed the books on the past, and that it is interpreted to mean that he will oppose any effort to investigate the acts of the last session.

The senate special committee appointed to investigate certain senators has also adjourned until next Tuesday. It appeared Senator D. W. Holstlaw to appear on that day if he wishes to defend his right to his seat. It is understood Holstlaw will not show up, and that the committee will close no time in declaring his seat vacant.

LOCATE SAFE BLOWERS

Bank Robbers on Board Liner Bound for New York.

Large Reward Offered for Capture of Thieves Who Have Been Operating in the Middle West.

Galveston, Tex., Jan. 6.—Two safe blowers and bank robbers whom the Texas officers believe are "Curly" Malone and Con Lewis, alias Charley White, are passengers on the Mallory liner Brazos, which sailed from here, bound for New York.

There is a reward of $2,500 for their arrest. Four men composed the gang which for more than a month has been operating in the middle west and the western part of the state bank blowing. Five or six banks in small towns have been robbed, the latest a few nights ago, when they blew the vault in a bank at Willis and got away with over $6,000.

A dozen stations on the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific railroads have been robbed and it is estimated the gang has cleared from $15,000 to $25,000. Their arrest is expected to take place soon.

DEADLOCK IN TENNESSEE

House Members Refuse to Meet Pending Chemical of Contests.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 6.—Forty-one of the forty-six regular Democrats in the house have signed an agreement to remain out of the house until the constitution is agreed to dissolving contests involving eight or more seats held by regulars. They say others will sign.

The failure to get a quorum makes it impossible to inaugurate Gov. Ben W. Hooper, Republican, and Gov. Patterson is still in office. Unless the deadlock is broken a senator cannot be elected.

ESCAPE DEATH IN WRECK

Chicago Train Leaves Rails at Inhab. Ga., but Passengers Are Safe.

Macon, Ga., Jan. 6.—The Dixie flyer, the fast Chicago-Jacksonville train, went into the ditch at Inhab, on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, ninety miles from Macon.

The engine and four cars were overturned. The passengers were shaken up, but there were no fatalities. About a month ago the flyer was wrecked at almost exactly the same place.

TOBACCO TRUST CASE IS ON TRIAL

Action Affects Validity of Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

MILLIONS INVOLVED ON VERDICT

Arguments Before Supreme Court Will Be Made by Some of the Most Eminent Lawyers in the United States.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Arguments in the supreme court on the great anti-trust cases brought by the government under the Sherman law began today with the case against the American Tobacco company. Following this case, which will last some days, arguments in the Standard Oil, the pure food and the corporation tax cases will be heard.

The attorney general and his assistants, the solicitor general and special counsel will conduct the cases for the government, while some of the most eminent lawyers in the country will argue on behalf of the corporations involved. Additional corporations in the tobacco trust case on behalf of the defendant corporations have been filed, one signed by John G. Johnson, W. W. Wallace, W. W. Fuller, Delaney Nicoll and Julius Parker, and the other by William M. Tynes of New York.

On the outcome of these anti-trust cases will depend in a large measure the validity of the Sherman anti-trust law. They will have a far-reaching effect upon business. The cases were argued last spring, but were restored to the docket for reargument before a full court after the death of Justice Brewer.

The principal points to be decided in these cases hang largely upon the interpretation of "What is commerce?" what is restraint of trade?" and what is the meaning of the words "to monopolize," as used in the Sherman anti-trust law.

The suit against the tobacco trust involves corporations representing assets worth more than $400,000,000. The lower court found that the corporations in the so-called trust had entered into a combination in restraint of trade and ordered the dissolution of the combination.

MOTHER'S AWFUL CRIME

Kills Her Two Boys and Herself With Carbolic Acid While Brooding.

Swansea, Minn., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Nelson Swanson killed herself and two small boys, Earl aged 9, and Bernard aged 8, with carbolic acid at the family home here. The three bodies were found clothed in night attire in bed. The woman's act is believed to have been induced by brooding over going to a hospital for an operation.

The only eye witness of the tragedy, a daughter, is too excited to make a statement of how it came about, and the husband and father, who was not at home when it occurred, is so frantic he is confined at the police station.

ALASKA BANK CLOSES DOORS

Largest Banking Institution Falls and Receiver Is Appointed.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 6.—The Washington-Alaska bank, with deposits of $1,000,000, has failed. A receiver was appointed. It is expected that the creditors will receive 50 cents on the dollar.

It was the biggest bank in Alaska, and held practically all the Tana gold produce, buying the dust from the miners and shipping it to the state mine office.

BRIBERY CHARGES ARE BEING PROBED

Senator LaFollette Testifies in Gore Bribery Charges.

GORE'S STATEMENTS AFFIRMED

Wisconsin Statesman Tells Story of Conversation With Mr. Gore About Bribe Offer of Jake Hamon in Land Cases.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, was the star witness before the house committee inquiring into the Gore bribery charges in connection with the Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma. Senator LaFollette testified that Senator Gore told him of a conversation he had with Jake Hamon in which Hamon had offered a bribe, or at least made a proposition that amounted to an attempt to bribe. The offer is alleged to have been made in connection with the legislation pending last year providing for the approval of contracts made by J. E. McMurray with the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians.

Mr. Hamon wanted Senator Gore to withdraw his opposition to the contracts. According to the charges he suggested that if Mr. Gore could see his way clear to let the contracts go through without protesting, it would be worth $25,000 to him and possibly more. This is the substance of the story as it was told to the senate by Mr. Gore a year ago, and Senator LaFollette declared that it was substantially the story that Mr. Gore had narrated to him a month before the contracts were to have been taken up in the senate.

Jake Hamon has testified in substance that instead of offering a bribe, he, in fact, practically solicited for a loan. Senator LaFollette corroborated the statement of Gore that he had made known the alleged attempt to bribe him long before he made the disclosure to the senate. Senator LaFollette testified that he had advised Mr. Gore to make a public statement of the case. Mr. Gore was not inclined to do so, on the ground, he said, that the making of such a charge would lay him open to prosecution.

A payment of $750,000 made by authority of Congress to the firm of McMurray, Mansfield & Cornish for legal services performed for the Oklahoma tribes, also came up before the house committee. This payment is known as the "Big Fee." There has been a lot of gossip in Washington about it for a long time, and indications are that an investigating light will be thrown upon it before the inquiry is concluded.

JUSTICE WHITNEY IS DEAD

THE HEAVENS IN JANUARY

By Prof. Eric Doolittle of the University of Pennsylvania.

Mars begins the year as a Morning Star. Saturn the only bright planet in a favorable position. 1911 an interesting year for astronomers.

The year 1911 will be a most interesting one to those who enjoy watching the heavens. Except at its very beginning two bright planets will always be visible in the evening sky, and at one time or less than four may be seen at once. This is in strong contrast to the year which has just ended, during the greater part of which the brighter planets all were morning stars. The aspects of these beautiful bodies as they change their positions with reference to each other and move over the heavens among the stars will be most interesting and striking, even to those who know but little about astronomy.

During the whole of January the earth and the earth about the sun are shown in their paths at these different dates. On January 1 the earth is at A, and Venus is almost in line with the sun at A; on July 9 the earth is at B and Venus is at B; on September 16 Venus passes between the earth and sun at D and becomes a morning star.

As Venus mounts up the western heavens Saturn will be seen steadily sinking. For a few months the two beautiful objects will draw nearer to each other, until on March 29 Saturn will pass below and to the west of Venus. Soon afterward the beautiful ringed planet will move to the west of the sun and become a morning star. During September, however, it will again return, and will be seen just after the evening sky in the east in the west. Throughout the entire year the rings of Saturn will appear to steadily widen until they seem to nearly inclose the entire half of the planet.

The planet Jupiter, with its retinue of bright little moons, moves into the evening sky in the southeast during March, and from then until November it remains in the southeast with us. At first Jupiter will be seen in the southeast and Venus in the north-west. During June Jupiter will pass to the west of the meridian, and by August 10, on which date Venus is most brilliant, it will have drawn Orion, the most magnificent group of all, has reached its highest position in the heavens. This is the last month until next August that the Milky Way may be seen extending exactly overhead, for soon the winter branch will begin to sink toward the west, not to be completely replaced by the summer branch until the summer is nearly over.

only bright planet in a favorable position in the early evening is the beautiful Saturn, which shines high up in the heavens, a little west of the meridian. But already the far more brilliant Venus has really appeared, and as it climbs steadily upward among the stars it will grow brighter and brighter, until it far exceeds in brilliancy any other object in the heavens. At this time many inquiries will ask the astronomers and the newspapers to tell them what the very bright star is which is shining in the west.

On January 1 Venus is so small a distance to the east of the sun that it the early evening until October. It will then be a very conspicuous object low in the northwest, and by the end of the year it will shine out most brilliantly in the south. By this time Jupiter and Venus will have both appeared, but Saturn will again have entered the evening sky. A remarkable approach of Mars and Saturn will occur on August 16. The two telescope. When it reaches c and, because a beautiful, narrow, silvery crescent it will be so much nearer the earth than it is now that it will look six times as large. When in this position it is often seen that the night planet is not an even line. The bright side is sometimes much remarkably and irregularly lighted up by twilight, exactly as the earth is sometimes lighted for a long time by twilight after the sun has set, especially in summer. This shows conclusively that around Venus there is a very heavy atmosphere.

Vanity of Life.

How small a portion of our life it is that we really enjoy. In youth we are looking forward to things that are to come. In old age we are looking backward to things that are gone past; in manhood, although we appear indeed to be more occupied in things that are present, even that is too often absorbed in vague determination to be vastly happy on some future day when we have time.

To Judge His Own Needs.

With intelligent guidance the child can be made the judge of what his body needs in the amount of food. If the child be taught—carefully—to chew every mouthful of food thorowly, and to swallow it before taking another mouthful, and if he is denied any food to drink at meals, then he cannot overeat, for appetite will be satisfied before he has swallowed too much.

Keeping Boys on the Farm.

The Department of Agriculture is proving its value constantly in many ways, but in none more definitely and clearly than in the encouragement of American youth to adopt the cultivation of the soil as a career. It is vitally essential that the children of farmers should themselves till the land their fathers and their grandfathers have tilled. They are potentially the best farmers.

Courtesy.

hospitable to his good meaning and we are willing to give the advantage of a good light.—Emerson.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

DEAR MISS CAMERON: "I wonder if you would help me. I haven't any mother and very few friends, and none who could give me the advice I need. Please tell me the truth and I will be very grateful to you all my life. Should a woman tell a man her past if it does not harm him or concern him in any way, and the woman is innocent, or rather not to blame?" That's the old problem—old as the apple, now as love, and as lost happiness—that came to me in my mail this morning.

What shall I tell the little girl who "hasn't any mother?" You know the story of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." Tess was a good girl at heart. Circumstances and a thoroughly bad man betrayed her against her will. Later, the right man, a fine strong man, came into her life, and Tess, trusting in his strength and fineness to understand that she had been wronged rather than sinful, told him everything. And then this man, instead of admitting that he had blacker sins on his conscience, said, "I cannot stand it in a woman," and turned against her.

Later, he realized what he had done, and suffered as he had deserved to, but that's another story. A woman prison commissioner once told me the story of a girl who saved from the streets. She sent the girl out into the country to live on a farm. The girl became well and strong and a completely new girl mentally and physically. A young farmer, who knew nothing of her history, fell in love with her and wanted to marry her. The girl came and told the prison commissioner of her love affair and asked her this same question, and the commissioner said, "Use your own judgment." The girl married the young farmer, and on their honeymoon they came to see the old commissioner. When the girl started out of the room to leave, the man lingered behind as if he had something he wanted to say.

And this is what it was: "I want to thank you for all you have done for my girl. It's more than I kin ever thank you for. And I want to tell you something—I—ah!—I'm an angel myself."

That's a case where a man had a sense of justice, but that's only one case. Myself, I am inclined to say, that if the woman knows in her heart that she is free from physical or moral taint, and that she will never be tempted that way again, she will do right to marry the man without telling him.

If there were a single standard of morals in this world for both sexes, and who were sure of the same justice from him that she should give, I should say, "Tell him," but she can't be.

If she doesn't tell him she will suffer enough penance by knowing that this secret will always lie between them.

But maybe I'm all wrong in feeling this way.

Won't some of you people who are wiser than I tell me what to tell this little girl?

PEOPLE WHO DRIFT. Are you drifting? Then take up the oars and pull against the stream. The world is full of drifting people. They get into a fairly good boat, then sit idly gazing into space, or contentedly watch the rippling waters flow by. Never a care or realization of how far they have drifted until a glance shows them that they are in unfamiliar or forbidden waters. Then they want to change things. They take up the oars and try to row against the current. Like as not they time at his first practice attempt. He would measure his strength and powers of endurance and run all that he could cover with safety, speeding up as he got used to exercise, for he knows that in that way he would have some chance to win the contemplated race.

Just so with those who have been drifting in other things. They must get ready for the upstream pulling that is just ahead of them.

It's easy and pleasant to drift. That's why we see people of ability wasting their lives letting opportunity pass like a flower floating on the breast of the water until finally they reach the place where there are no more flowers and only the sandbar of a wrecked and unprosperous life is ahead.

It is the slight of this sandbar that usually makes people take up the oars and try to get out of the way of danger. Just as long as there are no obstructions to the drifting they remain content but the slight of the bar ahead arouses their sleeping energies, and, for a time, they make an attempt to right themselves.

Some people are like driftwood. It may have been useful enough and fair enough when it first started to drift with the current, but at last when it comes ashore it has lost its strength, its usefulness and its commercial value. It is useless except for firewood.

If you are drifting pick up your oars and pull up stream. There is plenty of room for your craft.

WE may live without books—what is knowledge but grieving? We may live without hope—what is hope but deceiving? We may live without love—what is passion but pining? But who is the man that can live without dining? —Lucile.

Cheese as Food. We need to be reminded occasionally that the use of cheese in the cuisine is most important. Cheese is a highly concentrated food and a very little is sufficient to furnish a good meal.

Every bit of dry cheese should be saved and grated to be used in omelets, souffles and other dishes.

Cheese crackers to serve with salad or coffee are prepared by buttering the cracker, then sprinkling with cheese and put into a hot oven until the cheese is melted.

Cheese toast, made by preparing toast dipped in egg and fried, then sprinkled with cheese and stand in a hot oven until the cheese is melted.

Cheese Sandwiches.—Put soft, rich cheese through a potato ricer; for each cupful use an egg yolk and two tablespoonfuls of milk. Mix thoroughly; season to suit the taste. Spread on thin slices of bread, pressing them well together, then cut in strips. Roast the white of an egg with one-half cup of milk, dip the sandwiches in this, drain them, and saute in butter.

Cheese cream toast is simply ordinary milk toast sprinkled with a generous sprinkling of grated cheese.

Cheese Straws.—Roll out any scraps of pastry left over, sprinkle well with grated cheese, salt and red pepper; fold, roll and cut in strips. Bake until a crisp brown.

Cheese Canapés.—Allow the beaten white of one egg to each cup of finely crumbled or grated cheese, a speck of cayenne and a dash of salt. Remove the crust from an inch-thick slice of bread, hollow the center, making a box, fill with the cheese mixture and bake about ten minutes. Serve on a napkin.

Sweet curds are made by warming a quart of milk, stir into it one junket tablet dissolved in a tablespoonful of water. Stir occasionally to break the curd, strain into a cheese cloth and drain. Add salt to the curd and press out all the whey.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Food Specialist.

RYE BREAD EASILY DIGESTED.

Rye differs as much from wheat as does corn. It contains nearly the same minerals, but its starch is more easily digested than any other except rice starch. Hence rye bread is preferable to wheat, if it can be made light. But its starch is so easily dextrinized that it mashes and falls to rise as wheat flour does. Hence, it is necessary to mix a little corn meal with rye. The best bread is that made from a combination of the cereals—wheat, rye and corn. The "black bread" so largely used by the hardy peasantry of Europe half a century ago was rye bread, the extensive cultivation of wheat in western Europe for bread-making being of comparatively recent date.

DANCE WITHOUT FOOT COVERING

Latest Fad in the Education of Growing Girls.

THE latest fad for growing children is barefoot dancing. This is beneficial not only in teaching them grace of movement, but it also leads to health because of the contact with the earth.

The dances are supposed to take place out of doors whenever possible. A smooth space warmed by the sun is the ideal spot.

Even when the dances take place in the house they are beneficial because

DANCING WITHOUT SHOES OR STOCKINGS, of the untrammelled circulation in the feet.

The teaching of folk dances to little girls has been made a feature of recreation in some schools in New York city and elsewhere.

Linen Box For Napkins. One of the most recent fancy work novelties is a linen box for napkins. This is to keep them free from soil in the sideboard or linen closet. For it a piece of white ribbon is used, stiffened with cardboard. The edges are overcast with heavy embroidery cotton, and the cover buttons are held down by means of a slip. A single Old English initial decorates the cover.

Smart Gal Pedestrians. The women of the smart set are taking up walking in earnest. Truly nothing reduces the figure like it. Mrs. Henry Clews takes a daily constitutional of at least three or four miles. She carries a walking stick with a curved handle, which she finds of great assistance. Mrs. Joseph Harriman, Miss Maud Wetmore, Mrs. Royal Phelps Carroll and Miss Constance Warren are numbered among the most enthusiastic pedestrians.

The Woman Who Knows Better Than You What You Want. Who has not met her? She asks you what you want for Christmas, and if you say a blue workbox you are just as likely to get a red one, because it is more durable, she says.

Of course it doesn't go with anything that you have, but the woman who knows better than you never thinks of that.

Give her a grocery list and she will buy not the brands that you expressly marked, but those which she thinks are better.

If you mention that you intend to do this and so with a certain dress she will immediately tell you that you ought to do the opposite and prove it to you by her own experiences with her own wardrobe.

If you state that you intend to have the dining room done over in green she will immediately exclaim: "Oh, no! You don't want another green room. You want it blue."

It is especially when a woman of this description is in trade that she proves annoying. You start out to buy a plum colored suit, and she persuades you that what you need is black. You give an order for certain kinds of embroidery silks, and she sends you an entirely different set of shades on the plea that they blend better.

I CAN TELL YOU WHAT YOUR FUTURE WILL BE FOR YOU. Write me today.

I can tell you about things to come. I can tell you your future in regard to matters of love, family or business.

If You Are Sick I can tell you what your sickness is, what causes it, and help you to get well.

I am a help born. I will advise what is best for you to do in all matters. My readings are reliable. I can help everyone. I have an eye.

You enter a hat with a small head size, and when it comes home, behold, the crown comes below your ears, and all expostulations bring forth the remark that they are making the head sizes large this year and therefore you will be better satisfied with it.

You cannot convert the woman who knows what you want better than you do. The only thing is to leave her severely alone.

MAUD ROBINSON.

French Customs Absurdities. New York is not the only place where people have custom house troubles. Two men went to Nice lately from Italy to attend a funeral, and took with them a wreath of flowers to which was fastened a silk ribbon, bearing an inscription. They were informed at their destination that they would have to pay a duty equivalent to $25. The mourners protested, saying that the wreath was made of natural flowers, on which there was no duty; but they were informed that the dutiable part was the silk, and that according to the tariff laws duty must be collected on the gross weight of the memorial emblem. Then the men agreed to throw the ribbon away, but this could not be done on French soil, and so they journeyed back to the frontier, where they disposed of the ribbon, boarded a train for Nice with the ribbonless wreath, and arrived too late for the funeral.—New York Sun.

English Cotton Spinners Complain. English cotton spinners have passed through the worst twelvemonth of the last twenty-five years, according to tabular statistics which have just been published at Manchester. Particulars are given of seventy-three cotton spinning companies in Lancashire with a total paid-up capital of $12,818,580 and an aggregate loan capital of $5,394,955.

The period under review is the year ended November 30 last and the total loss after paying interest on loans and allowing for depreciation is $1,315,215. This works out an average loss of $18,015 a company as compared with $14,625 last year. The percentage of loss on share capital is 10.26 per cent., as against 7.73 per cent. in the previous year.

Modern Hospital Needs. What are these needs of modern hospitals which necessitate so much more space than was ever thought of, in the days of the primitive barrack type of wards, some of them erected even within the past decade, and how have such needs arisen? Briefly, they may be said to include all that is done for the patient apart from the giving of food and medicines, and they have arisen from the extraordinary progress of medical science, particularly in the fields of bacteriology, serum therapy and pathology, and in the adaptation for medical use of the recent discoveries in the electrical and mechanical sciences. Moreover, the hospital has become a center for investigation, research and education to an extent never imagined before.—The Century.

No More Catarrh

The People's Drug Co. Has a Guaranteed Cure That Has Stood the Test of Time.

Catarrh cures come and catarrh cures go, but HYOMEL continues to cure catarrh and abolish its disgusting symptoms wherever civilization exists.

Every year the already enormous sales of this really scientific cure for catarrh grows greater, and the present year will show all records broken, if you buy a HYOMEL outfit for $1.00 and hide it in a dark cupboard it won't cure your catarrh.

If you breathe it daily as directed it will cure your catarrh or it won't cost you a cent. Ask the People's Drug Co. If you have a hard rubber (Hyomel) Inhaler somewhere around the house, get it out and start at once to forever rid yourself of catarrh.

The People's Drug Co. will sell you a bottle of HYOMEL (Liquid) for only 50 cents; start to breathe it and notice how quickly it clears out the air passages and makes the entire head feel fine.

HYOMEL used regularly will cure catarrh, coughs, colds, bronchitis or sore throat. A complete outfit including a hard rubber pocket inhaler costs $1.00. No stomach dosing. Just breathe it. It kills the germs, soothes and heals the inflamed membrane.

Daily Health Hint. The exercise of the muscles may be so prolonged that the decay of their particles will exceed the supply of nutrition furnished by the blood. In this case the muscles will grow smaller and weaker from overaction. Some people injure themselves as much by excess of exercise as others do by want of it.

A Hospitality Hint. When I expect a guest from a distance, I purchase a number of souvenir post cards of our home town, and after stamping them place them on the desk in the guest room where they can be addressed and sent back without any shopping being done by my guest.—From Woman's Home Companion.

HIGHWAY REPORT
MADE TO BOARD

CAUSES MUCH DISCUSSION AS TO WHAT ACTION WILL BE TAKEN.

ROUTINE WORK FINISHED

County Board Sessions Attract Considerable Attention—Much Discussion Over Many Matters.

In presenting his report of the work of the past three years, ex-County Commissioner G. H. Skovien prepared a tabulated statement and general summary of what had been accomplished. A summary of the road work, according to his report shows that appropriations of the county board for the past three years is as follows: 1908, $25,551.32; 1909, $25, 902.00; 1910, $28,219.29; total, $79,753.
62. Of this $79,753.62 was expended leaving a balance on hand of $1,770.56.
For road machinery and to the repair fund, $5,500 and $11,111.41 were paid out, making the total expenditures on Rock county roads of $58,873.96. The total number of miles of highway constructed in the three years' time was seventy-two and a half miles, costing on an average $1,089 per mile. It laid out in one line the highways would reach from Janesville to Milwaukee.
The figures given below show by towns the costs to towns, county and the cities of Beloit and Janesville and the cost on the investment at 5 per cent interest per annum. The city of Janesville comprises one-fifth of the county and pays one-fifth of the cost.
The city of Beloit is nearly the same, but pays only 18-1/2 per cent. The figures here, however, are given approximately for both Janesville and Beloit. The difference in the annual cost of the highest priced roads and those of lower cost in each town is also shown. This amount can be used each year for repairs on these roads and still the roads will only balance the cost of the highest priced roads, with enough for repairs.

Training School Adopted.
The proposition as to whether Rock county should establish a training school for teachers, when put to a vote, was adopted by the county board.
Only six dissenting votes being cast.
Later in the afternoon L. E. Gettle moved the appropriation of $2,000 for a school and the appointment of two members to take charge of the arrangements for the school and it was made a special order of business for today.

The special committee ordered to report on the supposed illegal collection of taxes from Clinton and Milton, which are exempt from paying bridge tax, reported that it had found the collection to be illegal and moved that the towns be reimbursed and the amounts assessed from the other in the next tax levy. The motion was adopted.

The report of the building committee presented by E. C. Hopkins was adopted. That certain roads in the towns of Bradford and Harmony be improved and added to the county highway system was the recommendation of Committee No. 6 in its report given by C. E. Moore.

Appropriations for stationery and stamps for County Superintendent of Schools Antkowiak and Mr. Antkowiak's traveling expenses to the convention at La Crosse were made upon the reports made by C. J. Stoney and the resolution offered by him.

By a resolution introduced by E. C.
Hopkins the county clerk was authorized to refund to Mrs. P. Anderson the sum of $61, paid for relief of people in Wood county, and which had been paid to the county clerk.

The sum of $300 was appropriated for the use of the building committee on a resolution to that effect by A.
C. Gray.

It was decided that the report of the county superintendent of schools should be printed, the board adopting Joseph Ross' resolution.

The report of Committee No. 4, made by J. L. Bear, carrying the salaries of county officers, was adopted.

The county treasurer was authorized to make a loan of $5,000 for ninety days to be placed in the general fund, a resolution by J. L. Bear to that effect being adopted.

The Ancient Incubator.
Few of those who wrestle with the chicken-incubator problem, and often fail to solve it, realize how old an art they are struggling to master. Thousands of years ago Egyptians in one part of the world and the Chinese in another had the art of incubating eggs so highly developed that it was an hereditary profession, the secret guarded with religious sacredness and handed down from father to son. The old stone called "mammet" that the Egyptians used as incubators date back to remote antiquity. Even before the French Revolution the Paris markets had incubator chickens, thanks to an apparatus, which was invented in France in 1777.

Perhaps.
Let us not discourage the literary habit. Many popular authors develop into first-class farmers.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

One of the prettiest and truest-to-nature stage pictures ever created is the cotton picking scene in the ever popular production of Steison's "En-cino Tom's Cabin" which is to be seen at Myers Theatre, Monday, Jan. 9th, matinee and evening. It is a true fascination of an ideal home on the Red River, the setting having been constructed and painted from actual photographs, secured by Manager Leon Washburn. Mr. Washburn is most activating, even in the most minor details of a production. Where another manager would be contented with paper macho plants, Manager Washburn must have the real article. He engaged the services of a chemist who finally produced a shellac by the use of which the cotton plant may be preserved in its natural state indefinitely.
The several hundred plants used in the Steison production are exactly as they were when removed from a Louisiana plantation in the height of the cotton picking season. Verba uter-fall in even faintly depicting this beautiful picture. It must be seen to be appreciated. Special school children matinee at 3:15.

"Baby Mine," the hugely funny farce is coming back to Janesville and the state selected for its return is Monday, Jan. 23rd, the place being the Myers Theatre. Never has a farce made itself so popular as old "Baby Mine" and it is easy to see why its return should be demanded so quickly. In that Margaret Mayo has taken an idea that is novel and has treated it in the most convincing manner, resulting in a farce which produces so many laughs that it is impossible to keep tab on them and furthermore no one cares to after the action of the farce starts.
That can be understood, for the person who was so intimated has his mind too interested in the laughable situations on the stage to look to the numerical work of counting laughs.

Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the Jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate back in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the

A FAREWELL BANQUET
TO DEPARTING FRIAR

Ralph VanCleave Guest of Honor at Gathering at Hotel Myers
Last Evening.

Last evening at the Hotel Myers,
"The Friars," a local organization, and their friends, tendered a farewell banquet to Ralph VanCleave, who leaves tomorrow for California where he will make his future home.

The tables were laid in the "Ordinary" and were most tastefully lighted by candlelight and decorated with red roses and cut ferns. Mr. VanCleave was seated at one end of the T-shaped table while Stanley Woodruff, the toastmaster, was seated at the head.
Covers had been laid for twenty-six and a most delicious repast was enjoyed.

Carefully prepared jokes were played on the departing guest during the course of the dinner, telegrams from all parts of the world, from noted personalities who could not be present, were read, presents of forget-me-nots, hugo paper hearts from admiring friends, little red cards for work in Mr. VanCleave's new business venture, cement construction, pictures containing hidden "bits" at the guest of honor, clever stories of past experiences by his intimate friends and good music, made the evening one of enjoyment and long to be remembered.

Mr. VanCleave has been a resident of Janesville for the past seven years, having been connected with the Garretts' editorial force during that period. He has made many warm friends during his residence here and "The Friars" organization which rendered him the banquet last evening was of his own conception. He leaves Janesville and the newspaper work to enter into partnership with his brother in the cement business at Exeter, California, and takes with him "the best wishes of his many friends."

Those present last evening were:
Robert Bostwick, Jr., Dr. Frank Van
Kirk, Henry Carpenter, S. H. Echlin,
Stanley Woodruff, William McNell,
Emil Hammons, H. E. Lovejoy, Alton P. Lovejoy, Edmund Shrinker,

CHAPTER VII.

The Rosewood Box.

On the girl, Tom Farnshaw's passionate, stormy avowal had the effect of a sort of moral earthquake. It left the ground beneath her feet suddenly unstable and treacherous; it threatened to bring down about her ears the whole structure of her life. The very thing she had relied upon for shelter and security against outside troubles and dangers, was, on the instant, fraught with a greater danger than any of them.

For the first few moments after his avowal she had felt no emotion other than that of astonishment and incredulity. Even when he asked her if she could not marry him, anyway, though the question revolted her, she told the truth in saying that she was not angry.

The anger came later, but it burned into a flame that was all the hotter for its tardiness in kindling. It must have an outlet somewhere, and as such, the promenade up and down the other side of the deck was altogether insufficient.

The sight of a small boat at the foot of the accommodation ladder seemed to offer something better. So, pulling on a pair of fur gauntlets, she dropped into it, cast off the painter, slipped the pair of light oars it contained, and rowed away without any thought of her destination—of any destination whatever; without, even, a very clear idea of what she was doing. She must do something; that was all she knew. Certainly she pulled away from the yacht's side with no idea that she was running into any possible danger.

It was half a mile, perhaps, from the yacht to the particular bit of shelving beach toward which she unconsciously propelled the boat. She rowed steadily, without so much as a glance over her shoulder, until she felt the grate of the shingle beneath the bow.

She became aware, not only that she had unconsciously come ashore, but also that the yacht was nowhere to be seen. A bank of fog had come rolling in from the eastward, so heavy as to render an object 100 paces away totally invisible. The clump of empty buildings here on the beach could hardly be half that distance, as she remembered, yet looking round from her seat in the row boat, she could make out no more than their blurred masses against the white ice and sand which surrounded them.

She scrambled out of the boat and pulled it high up on the beach. The fog made the air seem cold, though for the Arctic it was a mild night. Two of the abandoned buildings on the beach behind her were mere sheds, windowless, absolutely bare, never having served, evidently, any other purpose than that of storage. But the third, and largest, as she remembered it, offered a shelter that was becoming attractive. There were some rude bunks in it where she could rest comfortably enough; and, unless she was mistaken, Seales had left in the hut a half-burned candle which they had used in exploring its dark interior. She had a box of wax tapers in her pocket. She could go in there and make herself at home, and at the same time keep an alert ear for a hall from the yacht.

She found the candle in the place where she remembered Seales had laid it down, struck a light and wedged the candle into a knot-hole. She turned toward one of the bunks with the idea of stretching out there, and by relaxing her muscles, persuade, perhaps, her overstrung nerves to relax, too.

She had taken a step toward it, indeed, before she saw, through the murky and candle smoke, the thing that lay right before her eyes—a rather large, brass-bound rosewood box or chest. It had not been here in the afternoon when they had entered the place, for they had searched its bare interior thoroughly in the hope that there might be something which previous investigators had overlooked. This box, six inches high and a foot long, or more, could not have been here then. It was standing now in the most conspicuous place in the room—in the very middle of the bunk.

The sight of it might well have caused astonishment or alarm in the girl's mind. But it was neither alarm nor astonishment that her next act expressed. She dropped down on her knees beside the rude wooden bunk, drew the chest up close in the light embrace of her young arms, laid her cheek against the cold polished surface of its blackened wood, and cried.

Every question that might have come there, and what its coming might pretend to herself or to the other of the Aurora's people—was swept away in a sudden rush of ill-affected affection and regret which the sight of it instantly awoke. It had reached her with that sudden poignant stab of memory which inanimate objects, familiar by long association, seem to be more potent to call up than the very persons of the friends with whom they are associated. The sight of her father himself could hardly have had so instantaneous and overwhelming an effect upon her as the sight of this old chest, which was one of the earliest of her associations with him.

It had always stood, until he had taken it with him on that last voyage of his, upon a certain farther corner of his desk in the old library. It was one of those objects of a class that children always love—smooth, polished, beautiful; beautiful and, at the same time, defying curiosity.

It was quite a masterpiece of cabinet work. No hinges were visible, and the cover fitted so closely upon the box itself that the line which separated them was hard to discover. And there was no trace of keyhole or lock. To those uninitiated into its secret, it defied any attempt to open it.

Presently she seated herself on the bunk, took the little chest on her knees and set about opening it. Between the cold and her excitement she found this rather a difficult thing to do, though her mind never, nevertheless, hesitated over the slightest detail of the necessary formula of procedure. She knew in just what order to press in those innocent-looking little ornamental tabs in the brass binding; remembered the right moment to turn the box up on its end and let the just released steel ball roll down its channel to the pocket, where it must lie before the last pressure upon the last spring would prove effective. She no more faltered over it than she would have faltered over her alphabet. And at last, when her numb fingers had completed their task, the counter-weighted lid rose slowly by itself, just as it had used to, and revealed to her swimming eyes the contents of the interior.

Up to the moment she had not realized what the finding of the dispatch box meant. It had not occurred to her that a full account of her father's expedition, a narrative which would reach, perhaps, to the morning of the last day of all, was lying here, right under her eyes.

But now when the cover opened and she saw beneath it a thick volume, bound in red morocco, she realized that here, under her hand, was the very object, in search of which the Aurora had set out upon her perilous voyage.

The first sight of her father's clear, erect, precise handwriting warmed her with a sudden courage. But even this new inspiration of courage did not make her strong enough to turn back and read the last entry in that tragic journal first. She tried to do it, but the will failed her. So she began at the beginning. Once she had plunged into the fascinating narrative, the whole of the outside world faded away from her. She was oblivious to the fact that the darkness outside was no longer the mere darkness of the fog; oblivious to the rising wind that poured its icy stream through the leaky walls of the hut and made the candle flicker; oblivious, even to the very sound which she had meant to wait for—the sound of Tom's voice calling out to her from the yacht, and the sound of other, more alarming, nearer voices.

They all fell on deaf ears as she turned page after page of that precious record of her father's life. It was written, in the main, in the scientific, observant, unimpassioned temper which she knew so well. It chronicled those days of peril, when their ship, crushed in the ice, and only kept from sinking by that very ice, which had just destroyed her, was drifting along in the "pack," to what seemed

The Skin and Not the Blood.

Until recently it has been a generally accepted proposition that eczema was a disease of the blood, and that in order to cure it, the blood must be purified and enriched by internal remedies. Careful experiments and scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is purely a skin disease, and curable through the skin alone. A great majority of persons afflicted with eczema have no other ailment, which is accepted as positive proof that it is purely a skin disease. Having established this fact, the chemists of the American Drug and Pross Association set about to compound a prescription that would successfully cope with this disease, and after much investigating brought out Meritol Eczema Remedy, the effect of which is marvelous. If you are afflicted with this loathsome disease, do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy. You will be surprised at its prompt action, its soothing effect and its permanent results. Reliable Drug Co. are commissioned by the association to sell it in Janesville.

certain destruction, as quietly and as explicitly as he did the uneventful voyage through Behring strait. The man's courage was so deeply elemental in him that he could not be self-conscious about it.

He told of the land, the strange, uncharted shore, whose discovery offered them a respite, at least, from that destruction; told how he got his remaining stores ashore and built the hut, where, in all human probability, he and his companions were to spend the rest of their lives.

Finally she reached the record of the day when he had consigned to the sea the bottle containing the chart of the coast and the account of his plight, together with the course which the relief ship must take, should such a relief ship be sent out, to have any hope at all of reaching them.

"I suppose," his narrative for this day concluded, "there is hardly any chance in ten thousand that my message will ever be picked up, and certainly not one in a million that it will be found in time to bring an effective relief. However, it helps to keep the others cheerful, and that is the main thing."

At the close of the day's entry was a single line which contracted her heart with a sharp spasm of pain. "This is Jeanne's birthday," it said.

She resumed her reading presently, and came to the point where the Walrus people entered into the narrative; their plight, their rescue and their welcome by the three men, who by now were the only survivors of the original expedition.

She was reading faster now, with none of those little meditative pauses that had marked her progress through the earlier pages of the journal, for the sinister termination of the narrative began to foreshadow itself darkly, from the moment—the first moment of the appearance of the Walrus people on the scene. Her father's description of the man Roseco, of the expression that had been plain to read in his face as he had listened to the account of the gold-bearing ledge across the glacier, gave her a shuddering premonition; apparently, her father had experienced the same feeling himself. Day after day Roseco's name appeared, always accompanied by some little phase of mistaking.

For just one day this dread seemed to have been lifted from Captain Fielding's spirit. That was the day the sun came back to them, putting an end to their long Arctic night. "It has been a hard winter," he wrote, "and I am glad it is over. The hardest thing about it has been our sleeplessness, from which we have all suffered. To-day we have enjoyed a slumber, having taken a walk along the beach. Even Roseco seems humanized a little by a return of the frank sunshine, and may, perhaps, develop into a tolerable companion. Tomorrow I have promised, if it is fine, to guide them across the glacier to the gold ledge."

It was the next to the last entry in the journal. She turned the page, paled and pressed her lips tight together when the array of blank pages before her told her that she had reached the end. Then she read the last words her father had ever written.

"Took the Walrus people to the ledge today. Have no heart to describe the scene that they enacted there. The man Roseco certainly means to kill me. If it were not for my conviction that the danger from him is largely personal to myself, that he means me and no other, probably, for his victim, I think I should have him shot as a measure of justifiable prevention. He is not a man, but a great sinister brute—literally sinister, for he is left-handed. I shall, warily, and hope the crisis may soon be over." Evidently that part of his wish had come true.

The book slipped out of the girl's hands, and she sat, with horror-widened eyes, staring at the candle, until it guttered and went out. Slowly, the outside world began to take its place again around her. She knew that she was shivering, half-frozen, that the icy wind was whining through the cracks in her rude shelter.

She thought she heard some one moving about outside, and that thought brought her quickly to her feet. She made her way to the door of the hut, called out; waited a breathless instant—and cried aloud in sudden terror.

Germs in Her System

Every Woman Should Read This Advice and the Generous Offer that Goes With It.

The number of diseases peculiar to women is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of catarrh in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give satisfaction, or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

There is only one way to overcome catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs, douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh in general, that shows locally most frequently in discharges from mucous membranes. Local treatment should be assisted by internal treatment for the general diseased condition if a complete cure is to be reached. That internal treatment should be scientifically devised and faithfully administered.

Roxall Muc-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made catarrh his specialty. This remedy is admirably adapted to the treatment of the catarrhal ailments of women. It purifies and enriches the blood, tends to stop mucous discharges, aids in removing impurities from the system, soothes, heals and strengthens the mucous tissues, and brings about a feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Roxall Muc-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefited, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Roxall Muc-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Roxall Remedies only at—The Roxall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

For Breakfast Try "Sunkist" Oranges

Luscious Tree-Ripened Fruit

It is not sufficient to know that oranges are the most healthful of all fruits. It is quite as important to know the kind of oranges that are most healthful and most palatable. The very finest California oranges are now packed under the label "Sunkist." Please serve "Sunkist" oranges at breakfast tomorrow and learn the superiority of tree-ripened, seedless, fiberless oranges over the commonplace kind. Don't fail to save the wrapper.

There is so much "meat" and nourishment in "Sunkist" oranges and so little waste that, in addition to their extra fine flavor and goodness, they are really the most economical oranges to buy.

"Sunkist" Lemons Juiciest

Lemons differ as much as oranges. Many thick-skinned lemons contain very little juice. You waste money when you buy them. Please ask for "Sunkist" Lemons and note how uniformly sound each one is, and what a small percentage is this valuable orange spoon.

Will Some one Answer Why

—do so many people every week use one of those little "liners" in the want page of this paper?

Why?

And again, why do so many people every week read these same little "liners?"

It's easy. Simply because these many people have learned the lesson we are now endeavoring to point.

Gazette Want Ads.

Chinese Fad,
Ingenious devices appeal to the people of China. The wealthy Chinese are extremely fond of musical instruments and often carry two or more watches and wear foreign glasses. The Chinese is well known for his fondness for clocks, telescopes, field glasses; in fact, almost any scientific instrument.

Call Up Metzinger

your Hogs. It might make you money. Spot cash, top prices, honest weights. References; any bank calves and feeding pigs. Call up evenings or early mornings.

We mean business and will close out our stock of new furniture and new stoves at prices lower than can be realized anywhere. We still have a little room for storage purposes.
